LEVERAGED FARMING COMPONENTS

LIQUIDITY PROVIDER

- Liquidity providers supply their digital assets to a liquidity pool and earn a passive income from them.
- Without LPs, leveraged yield farming or regular yield farming will not work.
- Liquidity providers earn a passive income from the transaction fees in the pool. Consequently, they will earn more if there are more people stake and farm in the pool and reverse.

LENDER

- These are the people who supply tokens to a liquidity pool.
- Lenders deposit cryptocurrency into the pool and are given tokens in return.
- Which tokens they will receive depends on which Decentralized Exchange platform they are using such as Pancake, Uni, or ZuckerSwap.

FARMER

- Leveraged yield farmers are the users of a farm that borrow a specific token or currency and pay it back later.
- This protocol allows farmers to rank up their yield farming position, meaning to borrow money from liquidity pools and add it to their liquidity to yield farm it.
- As a result of having more liquidity, higher return volume can be expected.

OPPORTUNITIES OF MAKING MONEY

KOI CAPITAL

- Leveraged yield farming might seem easygoing, but just like any investment, there are some risks involved as well.
- But the venture would have been more profitable if you had simply held on to your tokens but the price ratio of crypto assets in the pool changes make you hesitate or too rush while doing trades on the exchange platform.

EXPLAINING OUR VALUES

Why don't we invest by ourselves, instead of mobilizing source of capitals from other investors?

- Create a Win-Win situation: the more capital we have, the faster we will farm and make more profits.
- Stimulating the market and participants of the crypto & farming market in general, farming BNB in particular.
- Building a community for interesting projects.
